Four Chicagoans On Moonlight Boat Ride Drown at L. Catherine

Boat Upsets in Sharp Turn; Two of Six Riders Swim to Safety

Four Chicago residents were drowned at 2 a. m. Sunday in Lake Catherine in one of the worst boating accidents this community has experienced in many years.

The victims were Mrs. LaVerne Mortensen, 7116 Eggleston, mother of three children; Carol Jones, 17, of 6150 South Nagel; Philip Miret, 30, of 4035 W. 103rd st., driver of the boat; and Merrill Williams, 40, of 4605 Wolcott ave.

Dell Wilson, 35, 2101 South 9th st., Maywood, owner of the boat and Mary Helen Larsen, 19, of 7152 South Chicago ave., managed to swim 100 yards to shore.

Wilson told Deputies Horsch and Litchfield the six went for a moonlight ride with Miret operating the 20-foot inboard speedboat. While making a short turn at 20 miles an hour, the boat tipped over, throwing all six into the water. The craft finally sank in 30 feet of water and Miss Larsen said Wilson told her at once to try to swim to shore.

All four bodies were recovered by the Antioch Rescue squad in less than three hours of dragging. The bodies of the victims were found in a line within 50 feet of where the boat sank and within 15 yards of each other. None had a chance to grab life jackets.

None of the officers of the squad could be reached, yet the squad went to work without instruction, obtained equipment and lights, and in the moonlight worked efficiently in recovering the bodies in a short time.

The squad members included Leonard Roblin, Everett Oftedahl, Fred Yates, William Dow, Lloyd Murrie, and a new member, Edwin T. Runnefeldt.

The squad was called by Wilson and Miss Larsen from the Linden Lane home of Carl Swanson. Wilson said he tried to save the others but that they went down almost immediately.

The bodies were taken to the Strang Funeral home and later removed to Chicago.

Williams, one of the victims, was sales manager of the Atlantic Brewery Co., of Chicago.

Their deaths brought to 21 the number of drownings in Lake county this year, most of them Chicagoans.

County Civic League and Farm Bureau Ask Lower Tax Increase

The County Board of Supervisors postponed until Tuesday any action on a referendum seeking an increased tax rate to balance the county's budget.

Supervisor Emmett Moroney, of Deerfield, said yesterday that the county on Nov. 30 will be $180,000 in the red.

The board proposed an increase of 3.3 per cent, but hesitated when the Lake County Civic League and the Lake County Farm Bureau objected to more than 1 cent or 1 1/2 cents at the most.

The farm bureau board met last evening in taking its stand. The civic league pointed out that the indebtedness was an accumulation of a four-year period and not for one year as some of the supervisors would have the taxpayers believe.

With the farmers and business men against the 3.3 cent increase the proposal would surely be defeated. With them behind the lesser increase the proposal has a chance of being approved.

The present rate is 4-7 cents. A 1 1/2 cent raise would make it 6.2, and the county board's proposal would make it 8 cents.

Orchard Street Completed
The top coating has been placed on the newly-widened Orchard street which has been closed to traffic for a few days until the dressing sets. In the meantime traffic around the loop has been disrupted and the hazard of U turns risked until Orchard street is opened again.

Moves House to Bishop Street
The two-story frame residence on the grounds of the Antioch Township High school is being moved this week by its new owner S. Boyer Nelson to Bishop street just one block east.

Wright Children Winners At Lake County Exhibit

Peter, Judy and Virginia Wright, Old Hickory road, Antioch, each won ribbons with their exhibits at the Lake County fair and 4-H show at Wauconda.

Virginia took top honors with her registered Jersey calf which was judged first in the open class and in 4-H class and grand champion Jersey of the county, as well as in the 4-H project.

Judy took a Class B red ribbon with her home garden vegetable display of produce which she had raised in her 4-H garden.

Channel Lake School Referendum For Addn. To Building Passes

265 Ballots Cast; Was the Largest Vote Ever

Voters of the Channel Lake School district approved a plan of the school board to build an addition to the school building in a special election held Saturday. The total vote was 265, with 179 approving issuance of bonds to provide funds with which to erect the addition. There were 86 votes cast in opposition.

A second proposition, calling for approval of a plan to erect a gymnasium in connection with the school was defeated by a vote of 113 for and 142 against.

According to present tentative plans the new addition will provide two classrooms, offices and other facilities, including enlargement of the present basement. Plans also call for the addition to be built in such a manner as to provide for a second story to be built in the future if necessary.

Lions Carnival Is Successful Affair

The annual Lions Club Carnival, held last week from Thursday to Sunday was one of the most successful held in recent years, according to officers of the club. Although rain threatened during most of the time, no rainfall of any consequence fell during the event, and large crowds were on hand each evening.

The carnival featured a doll buggy parade on Thursday evening and a pet parade on Friday evening. Both were well attended, both by contestants and viewers.

Funds raised by the club in this manner each year are used for community betterment and other worthy causes.

High School Will Provide Insurance For Its Athletes

Antioch high school athletes will again be covered by accident insurance, according to a release received this morning from the office of Principal Albert Dittman of the school.

The insurance, full cost of which will be borne by the school, will cover the cost of treatment for accidental injury to any student while engaged in any activity supervised or sponsored by the school.

Dittman said that indemnities allowed for certain kinds of injuries under the insurance plan may not pay in full the bill submitted by the doctor, and that when the insurance indemnity does not cover the full cost of the bill, the parent is obligated to pay the difference.

Pupils of the school are covered, whether engaged in intramural sports, inter-school sports, or other activity.

While the school has no legal obligation in case of accident, the school board deemed this expenditure of taxpayers' money worthwhile.

Admission Prices for High School Football And Basketball Set

The board of education of Antioch township high school has accepted a recommendation of the Northwest Conference of Principals to provide a uniform charge at all Conference games in football and basketball.

Admission charges for these games during the coming year will be 75 cents for adults and 40 cents for students.

Wilmot Fair Opens; Rodeo Sunday to Be An Added Attraction

The annual fair of Kenosha county opened today at Wilmot and only inclement weather can prevent it becoming a big attraction.

Three hundred head of dairy cattle, 100 head of beef cattle, 150 head of hogs and 100 sheep will be on display, according to the secretary of the fair.

The commercial exhibit and the machinery exhibit will be the largest in the history of the fair.

Because the acts are in front of the grand stand, admission to that section will only be free this afternoon, Friday and Saturday afternoons. The acts will be included with the admission price for the racing those evenings and with the rodeo Sunday afternoon and evening.

As an added attraction the 105 Ranch rodeo has been engaged for Sunday afternoon and evening.

Cowboys and cowgirls go through their paces to give thrill after thrill for the lovers of the western pastime. Some of the events to be seen will include:

Bareback bronc riding, a fast, snappy, thrilling and dangerous event. The rider has no reins, just a rope around the animal's withers.

Saddle bronc riding—a fascinating sport. In order to win, the rider must keep the reins in one hand, both feet in the stirrups, and keep both feet moving throughout the ride. The horses used are known as "outlaws" and have gained reputations for unseating good riders.

Brahma bull riding—this is very dangerous as the massive Brahmas are tricky and the ride, which is similar to the bareback bronc riding, is more hazardous because the bull is most apt to turn on the rider as soon as he is thrown. These boys must be agile to avoid being trampled and gored.

Wild steer "bulldozing"—unlike bronc riding and roping. The cowboy rides at breakneck speed on a cow pony and makes a flying leap from the saddle, grasping the steer by the horns. Then, by sheer force, he must throw the steer to the ground and hold him there until the arena director blows his whistle.

There will also be trick riding and roping, and antics by the rodeo clowns. Scores of animals, horses, and dozens of cowboys and cowgirls direct from the 105 Ranch make up the program.

Climaxing the meet will be a grandstand review and parade around the track. The parade will precede the annual 100 mile race.

Village Board to Open Bids on Water-Sewer Project Tuesday Night

The village board will meet in an adjourned session Tuesday evening to open bids on the new sewer-water improvement on village property east of the Soo Line tracks.

The construction calls for a deep water well and pump house, and a water main connecting with the village system; a sewer main through the area, also connecting with the village system.

While the estimate has not been revealed, it is said that bonding can be as much as $160,000, but the bids should be far from that.

Funeral Yesterday for Frederick W. Bengsch, Camp Lake Resident

Frederick W. Bengsch, 75, of Camp Lake Oaks subdivision, Camp Lake, Wis., died at his home Sunday following a lingering illness.

He was born in Germany Jan. 31, 1878 and came to America in 1900, settling in Chicago where he lived until November, 1947 when he moved to Antioch, living here a year before moving to Camp Lake.

Mr. Bengsch was a life member of the Pattern Makers association, a trade in which he gave 50 years of service. He was a member of the Mutual Benefit and Aid Society, brass and wood pattern maker.

Surviving are his widow, Margaret, their son, Arthur F., of Camp Lake; three daughters, Mrs. Florence Olen, Chicago; Mrs. Gloria Schoenike, and Miss Margaret Bengsch, both of North Lake Village, Ill., a brother in Germany, and five grandchildren.

The teen-agers who race will pay an entry fee of $1.25 and must be present at 1 p. m., ready for the start of racing at 1:30 p. m. The public is urged by the officers of the racing club to attend and signs will be posted on North Avenue directing the way to the parking grounds where the races may be viewed.

All kinds of boats may be entered, just so outboard motors are used. Racers must have a statement from their parents giving them permission to enter and taking responsibility for accidents.

Fair Had Perfect Weather
The Lake County fair in its twenty-fifth year had its largest crowds at Wauconda this year. The attendance was estimated at 35,000. After getting off to a bad start because of storm damage, the fair had perfect weather throughout.

Antioch Garage Sold By Rosings to Chicago Firm, Ford Sales, Inc.

New Proprietor Ed Carlson; Will Take Possession on Saturday

The Antioch Garage, Inc., on Main st., at Lake st., has been sold to Ed Carlson of Chicago and will be known as Ford Sales, Inc. The new owner will take possession Saturday.

Carlson, who has his summer home at Pistakee Bay, has dissolved his partnership in Carlson-Loutit, Inc., Ford Sales agency at 6454 N. Western ave. in Chicago and that business has been purchased by Tauber Ford Sales, Inc.

Antioch Garage, Inc., is headed by William Rosing, well known Antioch Township supervisor, with his son, Herman Rosing as secretary-treasurer. Known as Antioch Sales and Service Co., since its establishment in 1915, the firm name was changed in 1948 with the incorporation under the name of Antioch Garage, Inc.

William Rosing entered the garage business at Round Lake in 1911 and after taking over the Ford agency moved to Antioch. He has been in business more than 42 years and in addition to the garage and automobile agency he has had other business interests in the community.

His son, Herman, has been associated with his father in business in various capacities for 29 years.

Rosing Will Retire
The elder Mr. Rosing is retiring and will devote his time to the sale of lots in the subdivision he recently opened south of the village. He and his son will remain with the new owners until they are established.

The growth of the "Ford Garage" as the place is popularly known has compared with the growth of the village. An article in the Antioch News of July 19, 1917 tells of the growth of the business at the end of a year in the new building, which is a part of the present more spacious building. The description then was a building 50 x 120 with office space of 17 x 22. A picture of the building was included in the article.

The retirement of Mr. Rosing from active business removes another of the older generation that built Antioch business on a good foundation.

Mr. Carlson, the new owner, will have the aid of his brother, Herb Carlson as sales manager. The former has a son in Northwestern University and it is probable that the family will move to Antioch when the boy is through school.

Carlson has been in the Ford Sales business 29 years.

Antioch VFW Host to Lake County Council

The Antioch post, Veterans of Foreign Wars was host to the newly formed Lake County Council Tuesday evening.

Many resolutions were brought up at the meeting, one of which placed the council on record as opposed to the idea of turning the court house lawn at Waukegan into a parking area.

The next meeting will be held at the North Chicago V. F. W. post Sept. 22.

Thief Selective In Stealing Motors at Lake Shang - ri - La

A thief whose selection ran to newly purchased items, stole four outboard motors in Kenosha county Sunday.

A $400 motor belonging to Donald Faje of Lake Shangri-la was taken, a hack saw being used to sever the lock, and about 300 yards away, a $200 motor never used was stolen from the boat of Joseph Gath while he was away getting bait to go fishing.

Robert Berderber of Powers Lake said the price tag of $387.50 was still on the 18-horse power motor taken from his boat, and Al's Sport Shop at Twin Lakes reported the theft of a small motor it had lent to a vacationer.

Economic Highlights

More and more people seem to be coming to the conclusion that one of the best ways to help balance the budget, to start reducing the national debt, and to make eventual tax reduction for enterprise and individuals possible, is to get the government out of commercial business. Former Defense Mobilizer Wilson started the ball rolling months ago, in a speech that aroused great national interest. Herbert Hoover advocated a similar policy in a nationally broadcast major address, in which he stressed the case for disposing of government-owned electric power plants and related facilities. Bills have been introduced in Congress proposing studies and investigations to find ways of returning government commercial operations to private ownership, and to protect the public's investment in them. A House sub-committee is studying federal competition with private business and the resultant loss of tax revenues.

An interesting recent development is found in a plan offered by the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce. It points out that taxes have now reached the point of diminishing return, and that government borrowing to cover deficits would create still more inflation. It implements these views with a recital of facts. Federal taxes are now at an all-time high, and have actually increased 3,000 per cent since 1933. Taxes are hampering industrial growth—almost 60 per cent of all corporate profits now wind up in the tax collectors' tills. The U. S. consumer's tax bill—federal, state and local—is greater than his food bill. Inflation, which is primarily the result of increasing the money supply in relation to the supply of goods, has made heavy inroads into the living standards of many and the savings of all. The Chamber praises the recent Treasury policy of increasing interest rates as an anti-inflationary measure but believes that it will be ineffective without a balanced budget. Therefore, the plan states, "Like any other business or organization which has been over-extended through bad management and extravagant spending, the new management must liquidate the over-extended operations."

It goes on to point out that government is competing with private business in some 100 separate fields of activity. These include power and aluminum plants, synthetic rubber factories, all kinds of lending agencies, hemp plantations, railroads, housing, fertilizer and synthetic gasoline and sugar factories, etc., etc. Their combined assets are estimated at $30,000,000,000. They are exempt from all federal taxes.

The Chamber thinks that many of these government-owned businesses would sell readily to private enterprise—some at figures above their original cost. Others would take considerable time to dispose of, because of various complications—in such cases, says the Chamber, their operations should be put on a strictly self-supporting basis that would eliminate tax losses and further drains on the Treasury. The largest part of the liquidation, it forecasts, could be accomplished within six or seven years.

In conclusion, the Cleveland Chamber points to four ways in which the sales of these businesses would benefit the public. First, proceeds would assist in balancing the budget and reducing the debt. Second, they would make possible tax reduction in the future. Third, they would provide new sources of tax revenue, running into very large sums. Fourth, their disposal would eliminate the need for appropriating money year after year to meet their operating and expansion costs.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

I been readin' about this raising the roof—the U. S. A. debt roof. We will soon be over a barrel—can't stop spending—gotta have a taller roof to house our debt—Govt. debt you understand. And as of today no nation in the world can hold a candle to us for debt. Debt is our hobby—nobody is going to surpass us if we can help it—not on your tinfoil.

Now if I was a Joe Miller or a PhD joke professor I would say the person to begin raising the roof would be us suckers who have stood around on one foot or the other and watched the roof cave in on our balance down at the one and sure place where our dinero is still safe but dwindling—the Bank. That would be pretty good, says Henry—but where is the joke, my balance has already flew the coop. All right, I says, I will start all over again. If your balance has disappeared up Salt Crick—and you still don't savvy that the roof has caved in, I am wasting my time. Well thank you, says Henry, that's different—but whose roof was it? What a guy, that Henry.

Spending has become chronic—that is why people call Washington—D. C., Old-Spendville-by-the-River. Somebody is gonna raise the roof—like and his boys, or us. Who will it be—answer me that—or maybe you better send it to the Ed. direct—anyway, send it some place.

Yours with the low down,
JOE SERRA

TWENTY YEARS AGO THE MOTORISTS WHO TAKES CHANCES

(Written by Homer B. Gaston 1933)

You see them on the streets and highways every day — motorists who take chances.

You see them turning corners at high speeds. Or stealing another car's right of way. Or passing on hills and curves, or driving on the wrong side of the road. Or cutting in and out of thick traffic. Or coming roaring into intersection and road junctions without looking to either side. Or operating at speeds which are obviously higher than are safe under driving conditions of the moment. And, once in a while you see such a motorist cause an accident. Perhaps there is little damage done. Or perhaps a life is lost and valuable property is needlessly destroyed.

The reckless motorist comprises ten per cent or less of the driving population. But he causes ninety per cent of the accidents. If the reckless drivers simply injured each other it wouldn't be particularly important to the rest of us. But they seldom do that—they maim and kill the careful, the competent, the prudent. And you never know who's going to be next.

This year about thirty thousand people are going to be killed because someone is careless, reckless, discourteous. Not one of a thousand deaths is really due to an unavoidable accident—or an occurrence which is almost as rare as the dodo. They can all be prevented. And they will be when there is a concerted public drive against those who make places of carnage out of public highways.

A number of friends were entertained by Mrs. Chase Webb at her home Saturday afternoon. Four tables of bridge played with Mrs. Georgia Nelson, Mrs. Nason Sibley, Mrs. Rex Simms and Miss Ayleen Wilson receiving prizes.

Antioch Order of Eastern Star installed Miss Louise Simons as worthy matron Monday evening at the Masonic hall. Mrs. Fern Lux was installing officer and Mrs. Hugo Micheli acted as installing marshal. Mrs. D. B. Sabin, installing chaplain and Hans Von Holwede installing organist. Escorts were W. C. Petty, Ralph Clabaugh and Otto Klass. Fred Yates served as soloist.

MARRIES ROBERT
JAMES WILTON

At four o'clock Wednesday, June 9, at the home of Mr. and Mrs.

William Dunham, of East Washington st., Pittsfield, occurred the marriage of their youngest daughter, Miss Esther, to Robert James Wilton of Antioch.

The Dunham home was a bower of pink roses, with a high background of ferns. Preceding the ceremony, the bride's sister, Mrs. Charles Lux, sang "At Dawning," "Oh, Promise Me," and Miss Fern Carnes played the wedding music.

The single ring ceremony was read by the Rev. William H. Hill, of the Congregational church.

The bride, one of Pittsfield's most beautiful young women, wore a white gown of georgette and point lace and on her arm a bouquet of bride's roses. Only immediate relatives were present. A luncheon was served in two courses to the wedding party which was made up of a very few close friends. The bride has been teaching the past two years in Nebo, and has many friends all over the county. She met the man of her choice while visiting her sister in Antioch. They will make their home in a most beautiful new brick bungalow to be completed by the groom at Antioch.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilton left following the ceremony for a wedding trip East, the Centennial at Philadelphia being their objective point and also New York and Washington. The groom is a college graduate and also a graduate engineer and a very prominent man of Antioch. The beautiful bride wore for traveling an Alice blue cape suit with mole trimming and a matching hat.

SHORT STORY

Christopher's
Revenge

By Sally Wright

IN OUR county, there was a herd law that said you had to keep track of your own stock. One day Chris Gorrill's cattle strayed into Mrs. Mauser's sweet corn. Mauser chased them clean across his homestead and out the farthest gate toward the Clark's Fork River. Chris had a time rounding up his stock. We saw him comin' back at dusk.

"Yeah, it was a kind of dirty trick," Dad agreed with Mom, "but Chris oughta do his share of fencin'." Reckon Mauser gits more'n his share of them cows."

Mausers and Gorrill were our nearest neighbors. Folks all around him had to chase Chris' stock. They figured Mauser just decided to teach Chris a lesson, and I guess, the rest of them sort of wished they'd thought of it themselves.

But it made Chris mad. He'd stand inside his fence and shake his fists at Mauser each time Mauser made a round on his tractor. Chris'd stomp from one foot to the other and cuss.

"Someday I get even wit da so-and-so," Chris told my dad. "Yah, yah, someday I fix. He drive my cows da hill over. I ride all day da river up and down to find dem. I fix."

The neighbors could have penned his animals and made him pay for their release, but nobody did anything until Mrs. Mauser got mad. She was a kind of sharp tongued woman and she nagged Mauser until he ran the cows off.

"I fix him," he said gleefully, his little black eyes fairly glistening. "Yah, yah, I fix him good."

Dad tried to explain to Chris about the herd law. Chris just nodded his head and said, "Yah, yah, herd law. I know. I know. Someday I fix." And he went off muttering to himself.

Dad figured the trouble would blow over. He listened to Chris, but didn't say much, careful not to take sides. Mauser never did mention it. He seemed sort of ashamed, though as far as I know nobody ever held it against him.

Well, things quieted down for a time. Chris kept his stock in until he could wagon posts and barbed wire out from town; then he went to work on his fence. Everybody got quite a kick out of seeing him out there sweating in the sun, digging post holes. Toward the end, Dad went over and helped him string and stretch his wire. Chris was in high spirits. He tapped each wire with his hammer and said, "Yah, yah, dat's plenty tight. She's one gut fence."

Dad agreed she was a mighty good fence.

Next morning before daylight, we heard horses come down the road to our gate. We could tell by the creaking of the leather straps and the rattling of the chains on the double trees that they were pulling hard. They turned and went back up the road, the sounds dying away in the dark. We figured it was kind of early for someone to be out with equipment, but in the milking rush we forgot.

As we were carrying separated milk to the hogs, Chris rode into the yard, slapping his leg and roaring with laughter. "I fix him," he said gleefully, his little black eyes fairly glistening. "Yah, yah, I fix. This morning I take da plow and I go right down da road so-and-so." He swept his arm back and forth in front of him.

And sure enough, he had. He had hooked onto his six bottom plow and plowed back and forth across the road from Mauser's gate to ours, six furrows as deep as the plow would cut. The pattern zig-zagged mighty pretty. A car, if it could get over the furrows at all without high-centering, would pitch like a bucking horse.

Chris went home swinging his big hairy hands, rolling his shaggy head and laughing. Dad looked after him and shook his head in disgust. "The big blockheaded German, he sure did fix it. He lives on past Mauser and has to go over that same stretch of road to get to town himself."

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat C.
GROWING PAINS

NEVER HAS AMERICA HAD SO MANY CHILDREN OR SO MANY OLDER PEOPLE AS TODAY. SO WE ARE EXPERIENCING CERTAIN 'GROWING PAINS', SUCH AS THE NEED FOR MORE SCHOOLS AND BETTER PLANNING FOR RETIREMENT, THAT WE HAVE GOT TO DO SOMETHING ABOUT.

WHAT WE ARE APT TO FORGET IS THAT THESE GROWING PAINS HOLD PROMISE FOR THE FUTURE—in the experience of a self-reliant older generation, and the dynamic drive of an oncoming generation—to carry forward in the ways of our democracy.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

A tired driver is a dangerous driver. His reactions are slower, his temper is shorter, his attention wanders easily. Don't keep driving until you have reached that stage.

Your vacation trip will be a much more pleasant experience if you will stop every once in a while, get out of your car and walk around a little, have a soft drink—a SOFT drink—smoke a cigarette. It will break the monotony of constantly watching a strip of concrete in front of you, and you can return to your driving refreshed and relaxed.

Then, when you arrive at your destination, you will be able to enjoy it, too. You will get there a little later, it is true, but your chances of getting there at all are greatly improved. Hurrying madly to get to a summer resort, a golf course, a relative's home or any other vacation spot may be only a short route to the hospital. Take your time. You will have lots more of it that way.

Using Old Pie Pans

Old pie pans not needed longer may be painted or enameled to match the flower pots and used as saucers to catch the drip when flowers are watered.

Child's Toilets

From the time a child is 3 he can usually go to the toilet by himself at regular times. But he may still need help with buttons for a little while.

Want to be nimble, smooth and quick?

TT Dynaflow* does the trick!

WE have just the place for you.
If such is your desire.

It's at the wheel of a 1953 Buick with
Twin-Turbine Dynaflow.

And we suggest you hold on to your hat and your heart when the action starts—for here's what happens:

You press the pedal and, from a standing start, you're up to a legal 30 mph before you have time to breathe but twice.

Or, you're in the thick of traffic—moving smoothly, easily, quietly.
Then, when it's safe to do so, you move instantly into the clear with the greatest of ease—in one progressive build-up of velvet acceleration—without a single gear shifted or a clutch pedal pushed.

That, sir, is the big thrill command
you get in any 1953 Buick SPECIAL,
SUPER or ROADMASTER with new
Twin-Turbine Dynaflow.

For this fully automatic drive now has two turbines where one did the trick before. Two turbines for instant getaway response—with whisper quiet—and with infinite smoothness through all ranges.

Of course, a lot of able power goes with this smooth, quick getaway—the highest horsepowers and compres-sion ratios, Series for Series, in all Buick history.

And so does big room. And the supreme comfort of the Buick Million Dollar Ride. And the superb handling ease of finely balanced weight.

Even Power Steering* is at hand to make parking and turning still easier.

Why not drop in on us soon and sample one of these great new 1953 Buicks with TT Dynaflow? It's an experience—and a value story—too good to miss.

SHORT STORY

The Trusting Step

By R. E. Rhody

HILL-FOLK are odd folk, and not like anyone else. They don't talk much, and they don't move much, unless you look awfully close.

Yes, I guess you can safely say the hill-folk are odd folk. They keep to themselves and yet love company with a passion, they're brutal, harsh, and stern, yet as gentle and as loving as a people can be, but most of all, they're stubborn... not obstinate, just stubborn.

Take, for instance, my Uncle Jebidiah, who was so stubborn he almost drowned.

Back in the days when the state was young and nobody knew anything about the "proper scientific methods" for growing things, my Uncle worked a farm in the "back-hills."

It was a good farm, nestled in a little valley between two baby mountains, and the creek that ran through the middle of it was what made it so good.

My Uncle, he was ambitious and sweated and worked until he'd turned that little back-hills valley into the "best farm in the mountains."

Of course, it took hard, back-breaking labor, but that was all Uncle Jeb had to give, so he gave it. His love for his land was rivaled

"When it gets past the third step out front, I'll leave," he told the group of boatmen. "Now get, you snivelling children."

By only one thing, his love for my Aunt Alice.

People who knew her say she was one of the prettiest women ever to be found in the mountain regions. Pretty, and small, but willful and firm enough to be able to check my Uncle's fiery temper and stubbornness.

During all this time, only one tragedy occurred to mar the harmony of their quiet, simple life.

The creek, which nourished the land, and made it rich and its crops bountiful, choked by heavy rains and an early spring thaw, overflowed its banks and flooded the entire valley. Crops were ruined, and the homes of other settlers, who had moved in by then, were washed away.

Uncle Jeb's house, however, standing far up the valley, went relatively untouched—the water reaching only to the third step of the five leading onto the front porch.

This was the first tragedy, and the last for many a year. The second, which was more comedy than tragedy, came after Aunt Alice had died, and the boys had married. Again, the creek played the major role.

Heavy winter snows began to melt with an early spring, then came two solid weeks of rain. Many thought of the Great Flood and fled with their families to the higher ground after the first week as the creek rose higher and higher. Uncle Jeb, old and 'sot in his ways,' didn't budge.

The water licked the first step. By the middle of the third week, all had gone, save Uncle Jeb, who refused to "let a little rain" run him out.

"When it gets past the third step out front, I'll leave, not until then," he told the group of boatmen who had come to ferry him to dry ground. "Now get, you snivelling children, I know this creek, and I know my land—no little flood is going to make me leave it."

So Uncle Jeb sat and watched the water climb from the first step, to the second step, but when it reached the third it seemed to stop and would go no farther.

"Ha," he said to himself, "I knew I was right. No, sir, no little rain can out me from my land. The flood's over, it's stopped in front of my door."

Twelve hours later, a hastily dispatched boat crew rescued Uncle Jeb from the roof of his house where the water had chased him. He couldn't understand it, "It wasn't past the third step," he kept muttering.

As the boat pulled away from the porch, an eddy from one of the oars swirled against the steps, which moved and drifted away on the current.

They had been floating, with the first two steps below water, since the second week.

Fox Lake Wrestler and Gypsy Joe to Wrestle At Round Lake Friday

Mayhem with a grudgeful accent is in store for the Lake County Stadium in Round Lake Park Friday night when Billy Goetz of Fox Lake, ruler of the midwest's light-heavyweight wrestlers, goes against the world's champ, Gypsy Joe, seeking revenge for a bloody defeat 2 weeks ago. That was one of the most wicked clashes seen in Round Lake Park all summer.

Again the boys will operate 60 minutes or the best of 3 falls. And in all likelihood, a mass crowd will attend, hoping to see a repetition of the furor raised last time. The Gypsy came out of New York state 12 years ago to set the mat world afire. He's drawn full houses in at least 20 states. In Wisconsin he met a palmer at a gypsy convention and they were married and she has served as his trainer ever since. They make a colorful couple.

Goetz, since being trained by the famed Lou Talaber in Chicago, has convinced fans that few men can lock grips with his efficiency. Rarely a hold in the books is not at his command. Many of the topnotchers have sought his advice on scientific grappling.

Other big men will be featured on the Lake County Stadium card: Rough-house Rudy Kay of Chicago and Benito Gardini of Baltimore, midwest tag champs, will team against Farmer Marlin of Michigan and Jerry Woods of Arizona in a tag match. The show opens at 8:30 p. m. with Rebel Russell of Texas wrestling Doran O'Hara of Ireland.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Many letters are received on government's financial condition following request to raise national debt limit.

Many businessmen who felt federal spending would be reduced almost immediately were shocked a federal government's financial position must be worse than revealed.

Indicative of sober thought on the question is that few letters are sweeping protests. C. W. Harder against present taxes. Most explain suggested economies based on personal observations.

Many comments come from businessmen near military installations, pointing to fact Post Exchanges offer a wide range of merchandise at cut prices, to service men for their own use, but undoubtedly friends and members of families also benefit.

Naturally, this is competition local merchants cannot meet, and due to broad scope of merchandise sold, few businessmen escape this competition.

However, the protest is against the Armed Forces using money intended for defense in operating a wide scale merchandising venture. No one seems to know exactly just how big a merchandiser the Armed Forces have become. Some claim Army is now world's biggest merchant.

Post Exchanges sell for about cost, because overhead is paid by tax money, it is claimed.

Rent, light, heat, wages of operating personnel presumably come out of defense funds.

A piecing together of vague information indicates at least the equivalent of three divisions is employed in manning and servicing post exchanges.

This would mean an expenditure estimated at least $15 million per month on the pay and maintenance of officers, men and civilians, whose military activities consist of running a merchandising organization.

For years the Armed Forces sold tobacco, candy, other minor articles militarily classified as "comfort" items.

During World War II, Post Exchanges leaped to big operations, with experienced merchants commissioned right and left to operate them.

Today Armed Forces are huge department store operators.

Even fair traded items are sold at cost by the Armed Forces, as they are exempt from state laws. The average pay in the Armed Forces is on a par, or higher, than that paid by many cities to their police and firemen.

Yet no municipality makes their taxpayers provide and staff quarters to sell merchandise at cost to city employees.

Securing full facts would require an investigation. As evidenced by past experience, it is difficult to get full facts out of the Pentagon, yet opinion prevails that the information that would be uncovered merits an investigation. It is felt that if the Armed Services Post Exchanges were cut back to the old custom of handling accommodation "comfort" items, cost of operating U. S. defense establishments could be reduced at least $200 million per year, or about the amount the government needs to pay annual interest on $14½ billion worth of bonds, or about the amount of income tax paid by 350,000 families with two children and incomes of $5000 per year.

SHORT STORY

Revenge

By Louie E. Spivey

JIM was dead. She had planned it all very carefully, and Mary smiled inwardly as the police sergeant directed the dragging of the river. They would find him shortly. They had to. But there was no way the police would know she had killed him. He had been doped and dragged into the car. No one saw her. At the edge of the cliff she had slit a hole in a tire that blew to bits.

The sergeant came towards her. "Mrs. Smith," he said, "We've dragged every inch of the river in this area. Are you sure he was in the car when it plunged into the river?"

"Positive," she looked up, her eyes tear-dimmed. "How could I be mistaken over something like that?"

"Well—I dunno. We've got the car, you know, and he's no where near."

"A door must have come open and let him fall out when he hit the water."

"Could be. But I'm thinking that he might have jumped out of the car when he saw it was going over the bank."

"Could that have happened? No! She knew Jim was out cold when that car went over the bank."

"It's getting late, Mrs. Smith. You need some rest. I'll get in touch with you as soon as I find the body—if I find it." The sergeant ended on a note of uncertainty.

Somebody or something was coming up the stairs! She heard the steps above the crashing of the wind and rain.

She was bitter as she left the scene. Where was Jim's body? The insurance company would hold up payment until the body was found. And she was sure he would be found in the car just as he had been left—under the wheel where she had pulled him as she jumped out.

But he couldn't be alive. Would the water have any effect on bringing him out of his stupor?

Sleep—that was what she needed. Once she arrived at the large house that had been hers and Jim's she went immediately to the bedroom and fell across the bed. She was aware of a slight peel of thunder in the distance as she lost consciousness.

The roar of the storm brought her out of her slumber with a start. But above the roar of the storm she thought she heard another noise. The front door? Had she forgotten to lock it? Jim! No, she was only scared.

There—there it was again! Somebody or something was coming up the stairs! She heard the steps above the crashing of the wind and rain. It had to be Jim! He wasn't dead! He was coming for revenge!

She tried to scream. She only uttered a hoarse cry. The steps stopped at her door! Then slowly it began to open. The lightning outlined a man's head.

"Jim! Jim! I didn't do it! It was an accident!" she wailed.

The man just stood. "All right, Jim—I did it!" she suddenly broke down. "But don't kill me. You're all right now. You'll live. Don't hurt me, Jim. I love you. Don't do it. We'll go away together. I'll forget about the insurance. Honest, I will. Listen to me, Jim. Please, say something. Tell me you will. Don't just stand there! Jim! Jim!"

"Where's the light switch, Mrs. Smith?" the sergeant's voice was loud and clear.

"You!" Mary was bewildered.

"But—why?"

"I've been trying to call you for the past several minutes. But the storm has downed all the telephone lines. Since there was no other way of getting the message to you about our finding your husband's body, I decided to bring it to you in person. The door downstairs was unlocked and the bell didn't ring loud enough to bring you out of that slumber, so I took the liberty of coming on up. Good that I did."

"Funny how things work out, isn't it, Mrs. Smith? Had I not come up here I would never have suspected murder. One's conscious has a queer way of acting sometimes, doesn't it?"

In every way, more car for your money!

Ford gives you V-8 power like that of costly cars... fine car build... fine car ride and 'at-home-everywhere' good looks - but the price tag never moves out of the low-price field

Everywhere you go people are making the swing to Ford. And can you blame them? Many cars costing over $1000 more offer no more of the things you need and want. Here are some of Ford's "Worth More" features... but to get the full Ford "Worth More" story, Test Drive a new Ford today!

Less front-end road shock. The kind of shock you feel most is reduced up to 80% with Ford's new ride. You get a smoother, more balanced, more comfortable ride all around!

Suspended pedals are designed to work easier and make foot space of your Ford's entire floor area. Suspended pedals are also a "keep out" sign to dirt and drafts... make it easier to keep the floor clean!

Smooth V-8 power is exclusive to Ford in its field. And Ford's Mileage Maker is the most modern Six you can own! Both the V-8 and Six-cylinder power plants deliver their hill-climbing "go" on regular gas—and not much of that, thanks to Ford's Automatic Power Pilot!

An extra suitcase will fit into Ford's luggage compartment—the roomiest in the low-price field. In fact, Ford's combined luggage and passenger space is the greatest in the low-price field... compares with that of many cars of higher price.

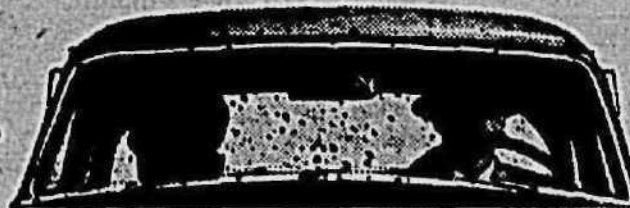

Center-Fill Fueling permits filling your Ford from either side... saves you time when refueling... and puts an end to hose scratches on your fender!

Curved one-piece windshield (below) and large picture windows, give Ford the most "look out" area in the low-price field... another reason your Ford is worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it!

GREAT TV! FORD THEATRE, CHANNEL 5 (WNBQ) 8:30 P. M., THURSDAY

Austins Sell Residence, Will Move to Florida

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Austin have sold their home at Wilson and Lakeview Dr. on the west side of Petite lake to Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Heinz of Chicago who will take possession in September. The Austins are selling off some of the superfluous articles and will move the main part of their household goods to their winter home in Wintertown, Fla. They are not leaving Antioch entirely, but expect to come back here for two months of the summer time.

"It is getting too much of a task now to maintain two homes," said Mr. Austin. They will be missed however in the Hennessey subdivision. Perhaps the fact that they still have a lot there may mean they may never leave for good.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

—BIG, TOUGH AND ABLE—

NO JOB IS TOO BIG OR TOO TOUGH FOR THE COMBINATION OF SKILLED LABOR, EXPERIENCED MANAGEMENT AND MODERN PLANTS ON WHICH AMERICA'S PRODUCTIVE POWER RESTS. BUT THE EFFECTIVE UTILIZATION OF THIS POWER, YEAR IN AND YEAR OUT, DEPENDS ON MANY THINGS: A SOUND DOLLAR, FOR EXAMPLE, TO PROVIDE A STABLE MEDIUM OF EXCHANGE—AND OUTPUT CLOSELY GEARED TO PUBLIC DESIRES.

AMERICAN INDUSTRY REQUIRES, TOO, A CONSTANT FLOW OF NEW CAPITAL FROM THE THRIFT AND SAVINGS OF THE PEOPLE IF AMERICA, PRODUCTIVELY, IS TO KEEP BIG, TOUGH, AND ABLE.

Antioch Area Gift To Hospital Fund Totals $4,925.00

Antioch has contributed $4,925 to date to the building fund of Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan, it was announced at the campaign headquarters yesterday.

Ed Vos, chairman of the committee in this village, said that many laymen have not yet made their pledges and that they may still do so by presenting them to the committee or to the Building Fund Committee, Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan.

"The hospital serves a great many of us and it would seem that most of us would want to have a part in securing more hospital beds," said Vos. "There is hardly a day that our Rescue squad does not take somebody to the hospital, and we want to have beds ready at all times."
